3rd Quarter General Assistance Recipients

Now that school has started and the temperature has begun to cool, it's once again time to turn our attention to the members of our community who have needs greater than their means. This quarter we were happy to assist these members of our community, and we look forward to being able to assist many more, with your continued participation.

Cynthia Romero

is a woman raising her granddaughter, who has had to relocate in order to feel safe from someone against whom she has a restraining order. This has set her back on her rent and electric, and she asked for any help she might find. We were able to help her with some of her rent.

Heather Leyba

is a mother of three, who recently had the hours at her job cut down. After a series of financial setbacks on top of that, including tires for her car and loss of daycare, she has fallen behind on several bills and needs school supplies for her children. We were able to help her by paying her PNM bill.

Josh & Samantha Lubinski

are a couple with three children, who have fallen behind on their bills, with an income less than their means, as it has been difficult finding a job that pays well enough to bring income, taking into account the cost of daycare for the children. We helped them with some of their rent.

Carrie Crafton

is a woman who, just a couple weeks ago, lost her husband in a tragic home accident. Now a single mother of four, she has been forced out of her home while the electric company fixes the problem. With no family in the area, all they have are the clothes on their backs. We gave them a Walmart Gift Card to help with household goods.

Eddie Mendoza

is a father of four children ten years and younger, who was recently laid off, and although his wife works, her income from bus driving only recently started again. They have fallen behind on rent and utilities, and need help catching up. We gave them a gift card to Walmart for day-to-day needs.

Julie Ramirez

is a mother of two children, whose hours were cut at work, and she has fallen behind. She recently has been getting more hours, but asked for help catching up. We helped her with some of her rent.

Samantha Chavez

is a single mother of four, whose husband abandoned the family. She recently found work and has kept up with rent, but has fallen behind on her utilities and phone bills. We helped her get caught up on her utility bills.
