THE GRANADO FAMILY

On September 6, the Granado family lost all of their possessions when their home burned. Javier and his wife and four children are hard-working folks, who need help getting back on their feet, after this devastating blow. We gave them a gift card to Walmart to help replace some of their clothes and possessions and put food in the kitchen.

RICHARD WARE

Richard is a boy who loves baseball and is good at it, but his parents are divorced and he lives with his mother, who has been struggling financially. He is with the Albuquerque Baseball Academy, and the team will be traveling to Lubbock, Midland and Phoenix this fall. However, Richard and his mother weren't going to be able to come up with the full amount of their dues in time. We wrote a check to the Touch 'Em All Foundation, which will go directly to Richard's account, to help cover his dues and some of the travel costs, so he can participate with his team.

BENNIE VALENZUELA

Bennie is a husband and father, with two children under 7 at home. He recently suffered kidney stones, which had to be surgically removed, causing him to miss work for a time. Both he and his wife work, but the unexpected additional medical costs set them back a bit. We wrote a check to PNM to help them catch up on utilities. Today, Bennie is back to work and feeling much better.
